Dear Ahmed Jebur.

Warm greetings from the editorial office!

The paper published in E3S Web of Conferences with the title Assessing the performance of commercial Agisoft PhotoScan software to deliver reliable data for accurate 3D modelling has left a deep impression on us.

The paper has attracted attention from scholars specializing in related fields.

Invitation to Contribute Your Manuscript

Started with an aim to advance the development of scientific community, American Journal of Applied Scientific Research provides specialists in various areas with good access to the latest scientific researches. In view of the advance, novelty, and potential extensive use of your research results, we sincerely invite you to submit other unpublished manuscripts of similar themes to the journal. We are also quite looking forward to receiving your further research on the published paper.
